ABOUT MALAYSIA

Malaysia is located in the southeast of the Asian continent; therefore this region is often referred to as Southeast Asia. Malaysia consists of two parts: Peninsular Malaysia, located between Thailand in the north and Singapore in the south, and the two provinces Sabah and Sarawak, located on Borneo. Peninsular Malaysia is located just above the equator and Borneo just beneath it. The capital city is Kuala Lumpur, a metropolis with over 1.6 million inhabitants in the city center.

Malaysia is a federation which consists of 13 states (11 in West Malaysia also known as Peninsular Malaysia, and two states in East Malaysia) and three federal territories. As a federation, the governance of the country is divided between the federal and the state governments. The government system is parliamentary democracy with a constitutional monarch. The head of state is DYMM Yang di-Pertuan Agong and political government is headed by Prime Minister.

Malaysia is a beautiful and diverse country with many highlights. There are many different regions, each with their own characteristic features, making this country the perfect destination for tourists. However, Malaysia does not entirely depend on tourism. This country's economy has been going strong for years. The country has developed itself enormously in the past 50 years, especially in Malaysia's capital, Kuala Lumpur, many modern buildings, a modern light rail transit system, many luxurious shopping malls and countless expensive cars on the roads. Life outside of the capital is often less developed; but even there the times of people only being able to afford a motorcycle are long gone.

Malaysia is a tropical holiday destination, where temperatures fluctuate between 25 and 35 degrees Celsius during the year. It is usually very hot and humid, especially in the major cities. Often due to haze, warm air is trapped inside the cities, which results in very warm temperatures. It is less hot on the many islands surrounding Malaysia, mainly due to the cool breezes. It is also less hot in the 'highlands' of Malaysia; here you can enjoy cooler temperatures that never exceed 25 degrees Celsius.

MALAYSIAN TECHNICAL COOPERATION PROGRAMME

The Malaysian Technical Cooperation Program (MTCP) was established in 1980 as Malaysia's commitment to South-South Cooperation through the sharing of Malaysia's development experiences and expertise with other developing countries.

The objectives of the MTCP are:

- To share experience with other developing countries;
- To strengthen bilateral ties with developing countries;
- To encourage and promote South-South Cooperation; and
- To encourage and promote technical cooperation within developing countries.

MTCP is premised on the principle that the development of a country is dependent on the quality of its human capital and resources. MTCP emphasizes human resources development mainly through training; short-term courses in public and private Malaysian training institutions and long-term courses in Malaysian public universities. Other forms of assistance include study visits, practical attachments and provision of services of experts.

Since its inception, more than 26,000 participants have been directly trained under MTCP. Currently MTCP is extended to 139 recipient developing countries in ten (10) key areas as follows:

- Agriculture;
- Economic, Finance and Trade;
- Education;
- Environment;
- Industrial Technical Training;
- Diplomacy;
- Management and Public Administration;
- Professional and Services;
- Social Development; and
- Science, Technology and ICT Management.

A new direction for the MTCP was formulated following its placement under Wisma Putra in 2010. It entails prioritizing developing countries of strategic interests, focusing on Malaysia's area of expertise, demand-driven courses/programmes, cultivation of potential participants who would later serve as 'friends of Malaysia', public-private partnership (PPP) and collaboration with new development partners beyond MTCP's traditional partners.

From the ten key broad areas, the MTCP would give more attention to the following eleven sub-areas: namely Oil and Gas Industry, Products and Services including Small Medium Enterprises (SMEs), Palm Oil Industry, Food and Beverages, Halal Economy and Ecosystem, Islamic Finance and Banking, Education, Construction, Health services, Diplomacy and Governance.

INSTITUTE OF DIPLOMACY AND FOREIGN RELATIONS

The Institute of Diplomacy and Foreign Relations, also known as IDFR, was established on 1 July 1991 under the Prime Minister's Department following a Cabinet decision dated 6 March 1991. It was officially launched that same year on 12 August by the then Prime Minister Datu Seri Dr. Mahathir Mohamad. On 27 March 2001 IDFR officially became part of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of Malaysia. Located in Kuala Lumpur, IDFR is housed in the former building of the Foreign Ministry. Its new campus was opened in 2006.

As the Ministry's training arm, IDFR conducts training programmes for Malaysian diplomatic officers as well as officers from other government ministries and agencies. Apart from the main diplomatic training courses, IDFR provides mid-career and follow-up professional skills training to help enhance the professionalism of serving officers.

The training programmes are practitioner-oriented and are aimed at equipping officers with the skills and knowledge to meet the challenges they face in the conduct of their professional duties. The Institute provides training in two broad areas: diplomacy and foreign relations, as well as foreign languages. In collaboration with the National University of Malaysia (UKM), IDFR offers a thirteen-month postgraduate programme for a Master of Social Science in Strategy and Diplomacy.

IDFR training courses are also offered to more than 136 countries worldwide, in particular to participants from the developing countries under the Malaysian Technical Cooperation Programme (MTCP) as well as from ASEAN, Colombo Plan and Commonwealth countries.

IDFR course students and trainees have numerous opportunities to participate in seminars, workshops and round table discussions as well as to benefit from keynote addresses and lectures by distinguished visiting scholars and international leaders. Prominent speakers under IDFR's Public Lecture Series have included Kofi Annan, Hris Siladzic, Lee Hsien Loong, Nelson Mandela, Sultan Hassanali Bolikiah, the late Benazir Bhutto and the late Yasser Arafat.
